THE FROLIQUES.—The Opera House was filled last night to its utmost capacity, the occasion being the Weathersby-Goodwin Froliques. There is not a great deal about the performance to describe. That it is funny the screams of laughter that greated nearly every movement of Nat. Goodwin, Chas. Bowser or Jennie Weathersby will attest. The singing of Miss Clancy was very good, and also that of Eliza Weathersby, but Goodwin is the show, and the others, like old Bangs, might properly be called "the audience." Divested of one or two unnecessary and malapropos double entenders, the performance of "Hobbles" affords one of the most enjoyable evening's entertainments that one could wish.

HOW IT WENT UP. Nearly twenty-one years ago the Wheeling Library Association was incorporated by the Circuit Court of this county, for the purpose of maintaining a library in this city and promoting useful knowledge. Geo. Baird, N. Richardson, D. Bayha, Chas. Marshall, J. Boone McLure, Joseph Seybold, C. W. Russell, A. Loring, J. G. THERE are nineteen children at the Children's Home on Thirteenth street.

SeyDold, C. W. Russell, A. Loring, J. G. Baker, John McCulloch, J. H. Pendleton tors. Its first officers were: Alonzo Loring, President; Nathaniel Richardson, Vice President; Geo. Baird, Secretary; Koses, the dairyman, has disposed of his business and will engage in other business in this city.

Wice President; Geo. Baird, Secretary; W. Brockunier, Treasurer, and Michael Reilly, John Hall, J. G. Baker, W. J. Bates, D. Bayha, James Wilson, T. H. Logan, N. Pigman and Chas. W. Russell, Directors. Its capital stock was divided nto shares of $50 each, and the amount of such stock was not to be less than $5,000, nor more than $60,000, and it was authorized to hold land not exceeding one acre in extent. Under these conditions the association began business and became an institution that reflected credit upon those interested in it and the city in which it was founded. The selection of books, as a rule was judiciously made, and both the library and reading room attached were liberally patronized by both stockholders and subscribers under the rules laid down by the Directors. The rooms formerly occupied by the Association in the Odd Fellows building were among the most pleasant in the city, and none of the city institutions made a better impression upon visitors or exerted a better influence of such stock was not to be less than $5, visitors or exerted a better influence

Unfortunately the managers of the li-brary paid too little attention to the matecuring a regular and steady income from all who made use of it. The plan adopted to meet running expenses and provide for additions and improvements, was to issue fresh stock whenever money was needed, payable in yearly instalments if desired, and as these yearly instalments amounted to but little more than the price of yearly tickets furnished to subscribers, most of the subscribing patrons of the Association took stock in that way. The result was that when the stockholders included nearly the whole of those interested in the library, and their stock was paid up, the association found itself without the means of keeping up the library on the scale which had been adopted. Lectures and entertainments were tried as a means of come from all who made use of it. The which had been adopted as a means of entertainments were tried as a means of raising funds without any considerable success, and the association, still finding raising funds without any considerable success, and the association, still finding its expenses running beyond its income, moved into its present quarters in the Capitol building and instituted a system of vigorous retrenchment in expenditures in the hope of making the library self-sustaining. The salary of the librarian was cut down from $500 to $300 per annum, the purchase of new books materially lessened and the supply of current literature in the shape of magazines and newspapers considerably decreased. By the utmost economy the Board of Directors last year managed to keep the outlay within the income, the former aggregating $606 98 and the latter $400 12, leaving a balance of $214 in the Treasurer's hands.

PLANS FOR RELIEF. This was the situation when the prese Soard of Directors took hold last October and the prospect for the future seemed exceedingly unpromising unless some new means could be devised for increasing the revenues of the association. The expenses had been reduced to a minimum, the item of rent having, through the kindness of Gov. Mathews, been removed entirely; the purchase of new books had been restricted to $60 for the year, and that of newspapers and periodicals to $85; all salaries except that of librarian had been stricken off, and that fixed at the lowest point at which a capable and responsible officer could be secured, and yet the income, including a considerable number of stock subscriptions, which expired with the year, had barely been sufficient to meet this limited outlay, and there was no reasonable expectation that it would again be sufficient, even if the same cramped and unsatisfactory way of running the library were continued for another year.

A NEW DEAL. In this emergency the Directors, after anvassing the situation, pretty unanimously agreed either that some plan must be and which would enable the library to Spare Ribs, &c.—D. C. List, Jr.

AGREMENT:

WHEREAS, The Wheeling Library Association has about exhausted the means of further carrying out the objects of its organization and must soon close its doors, unless its stockholders will contribute annually to its support; now, therefore, we the undersigned stockholders of said association in consideration of the efforts of the Board of Managers, to keep the same alive, do hereby agree with said association that we each will pay to said association the annual sum of two dollars, payable on the 1st day of January of each year, so long as we each continue to hold said stock, and in case of the lailure of any one of us, for twelve months to pay said annual sum, we each, so failing, agree to relinquish, and do hereby relinquish and to relinquish, and do hereby relinquish and to relinquish, and do hereby relinquish and to relinquish, and on hereby relinquish and to hereby agree to be cancelled, and our interests therein to cease, and our liability hereunder to determine.

main as at present; annual subscribers, not stockholders, merely having the use of the library under such rules as should thereafter be adopted.

WHAT IT WOULD ACCOMPLISH It is believed that this plan, if adopted would again put the library upon a firm and satisfactory basis. There are about and satisfactory basis. There are about four hundred stockholders, and if the an nual subscription of stockholders, and if the an nual subscription of stockholders, and those who do not desire to purchase stock, but would like to use the library, were fixed at two do.lars, it is estimated that a steady revenue of from twelve to fifteen hundred dollars a year could be obtained. This, under the present arrangements, would suffice to pay the librarian a salary that would justify such officer furnishing his or her entire time to the library, and keeping it open at all convenient hours. It would furnish all the most desirable publications wanted by readers, and a tempting array of current literature in the way of periodicals and daily newspapers, and it would keep the present stock of books in good order and condition. In addition to this it would keep up smoking, chess and conversation rooms, if these were desired, and such rooms could probably be obtained without additional cost. In a word it would suffice to give us a library and reading rooms that would be an advantage and an attraction. tage and an attraction.

There is a good deal of idle talk abou the library, which has little foundation in fact. It has been stated that a considera ble proportion of the books are trashy and that some are not fit to be there, bu and that some are not fit to be there, but if any one will take the trouble to look over the cattalogue and the shelves, which now include nearly seven thousand volumes, they will see that there is no occasion for this sort of talk. It is true that a considerable proportion of the books are works of fiction, but a majority of the novels are standard, and there are none that are authorities and the standard in t novels are standard, and there are none that are subject to any other indictment than can be found against novels as a whole. Poetry, biography, travels, literary and natural history and philosophy, are well represented, and the collection as a whole is one of which no one need be ashamed. All it needs to make it capable of furnishing all the benefits that were originally expected from it is a general cooperation in some such plan as the one above proposed.

the institution was not a public charity or charge, but an association gotten up for the especial benefit of its members and subscribers, they doubted their right to ask public aid. Some of them held further that if there was not sufficient interest manifested in the community in literary matters to furnish a respectable support to a subscription library, it might as well be abandoned first as last, and the question might as well be solved now as at any time.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

The result of a comparison of these views was manifested in a meeting of the Board of Directors at the library rooms last night, which will probably be decisive in its character.

Less than the community in the support of the library it was not worth while to attempt to continue it further, and the Secretary was instructed to have presentatives, for their acceptance or rejection the following THE WATCH CONTEST .- The contest that
